About the Play:

Haunting, insightful, and unfailingly honest, The Great God Pan is a compact, yet complex study of the ways in which seismic events often pass with barely a tremor on the surface of our lives. But what of the possible aftershocks?

When a chance encounter between two childhood acquaintances uncovers a startling secret, a young man's well-ordered world is suddenly rocked to its foundation!

Captivating in its depiction of myriad possibilities, The Great God Pan is not a play of answers, but of questions; chief among them the question of what is lost and what is won when we are exposed to potentially life-altering truths?

Character Breakdown:

This production contains open roles for 3 Men and 4 Women. This is a very tight ensemble show; each dynamic character has their moment in the sun!

Jamie (Late 20s) - A clean-cut, self-assured, and successful young man; an up-and-coming writer living with his girlfriend in Brooklyn.

Frank (Late 20s) - An emotionally wounded young gay man; multiple piercings and tattoos. He's had a rough life so far.

Paige (Late 20s) - A former dancer, she is now working in the field of psychology. Less certain about her career than Jamie, she is also uncertain about their relationship.

Cathy (50s) - Jamie's Mother. She doesn't pry, but Jamie is glad that she lives a comfortable distance away in the suburbs.

Doug (50s) - Jamie's Father. A well intentioned, but awkward man; he has a somewhat uneasy relationship with his son.

Joelle (17-20) - A troubled, deeply insecure young woman with a serious eating disorder.

Polly (80s) - The elderly former babysitter of Jamie and Frank. She suffers from dementia. She has a very warm heart.

PLEASE NOTE: The director is also looking for highly committed crew-members who want to be a part of creating this beautiful little play. If you are interested in joining the production team as a part of the backstage crew, please attend the first audition on December 5th at 7:00 PM sharp, and we will sign you up!
